

References for Sources Cited in William Braud's Brief Article, "The Transformative Potential of Exceptional Human Experiences (EHEs)"

- Brown, S. V. (1998). The EHE process: The objective standpoint. In R. A. White (Ed.), Exceptional human experience: Special issue, background papers II. The EHE Network, 1995-1998: Progress and possibilities (pp. 51-52). New Bern, NC: The Exceptional Human Experience Network.
- Brown, S. V., & White, R. A. (1997). Triggers, concomitants, and aftereffects of EHEs: An exploratory study. Exceptional Human Experience, 15(1), 150-156.
- Forman, R. K. C. (1997). The problem of pure consciousness: Mysticism and philosophy. New York: Oxford University Press.
- James, W. (1985). The varieties of religious experience. New York: Penguin Classics. (Original work published 1902)
- Palmer, G., & Braud, W. (2002). Exceptional human experiences, disclosure, and a more inclusive view of physical, psychological, and spiritual well-being. Journal of Transpersonal Psychology, 34, 29-61.
- Pennebaker, J. W. (1995). Emotion, disclosure, & health. Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.
- Stace, W. T. (1960). Mysticism and philosophy. Philadelphia: Lippincott.
- White, R. A. (1993). Working classification of EHEs. Exceptional Human Experience: Background Papers, 11(2), 149-150.
- White, R. A. (1997). Dissociation, narrative, and exceptional human experience. In S. Krippner & S. Powers (Eds.), Broken images, broken selves: Dissociative narratives in clinical practice (pp. 88-121). Washington, DC: Brunner-Mazel.
- White, R. A. (1998a). List of potential exceptional human experiences. In R. A. White (Ed.), Exceptional human experience: Special issue, background papers II. The EHE Network, 1995-1998: Progress and possibilities (pp. 41-43). New Bern, NC: The Exceptional Human Experience Network.
- White, R. A. (1998b). The EHE process: The subjective standpoint. In R. A. White (Ed.), Exceptional human experience: Special issue, background papers II. The EHE Network, 1995-1998: Progress and possibilities (pp. 49-50). New Bern, NC: The Exceptional Human Experience Network.
- White, R. A. (2000). List of potential EE/EHEs (3rd ed.). Retrieved August 15, 2009, from <http://www.ehe.org/display/ehe-pagedc08.html?ID=3>
- White, R. A., & Brown, S. V. (1998). Classes of EE/EHEs. In R. A. White (Ed.), Exceptional human experience: Special issue, background papers II. The EHE Network, 1995-1998: Progress and possibilities (pp. 43-45). New Bern, NC: The Exceptional Human Experience Network.
- White, R. A., & Brown, S. V. (2000). Dictionary of EHE-related terms: An experiencer's guide. Retrieved August 15, 2009, from <http://www.ehe.org/display/ehe-page5ced.html?ID=4>
- Wickramasekera, I. (1989). Risk factors for parapsychological verbal reports, hypnotizability, and somatic complaints. In B. Shapin & L. Coly (Eds.), Parapsychology and human nature (pp. 19-56). New York: Parapsychology Foundation.